Canyengue / Orillero ARGENTINE TANGO WEEKEND 2023

with Leo & Tracey

THE QUEENS HOTEL BOURNEMOUTH

A four star hotel close to the sea front with a fabulous ballroom!

Leo and Tracey are one of the few couples in the UK that are able to dance and teach the multiple styles and rhythms within Argentine Tango. They are delighted to introduce a unique and specialised weekend designed for those eager to explore the styles of Orillero and Canyengue within Argentine Tango. While individuals of all levels are welcome to join, those with a basic understanding of Argentine Tango will benefit the most from the weekend.

The Orillero style, (translated as close to the bank or riverside), is the oldest style of Argentine Tango and it's the first expression of the original Tango. The embrace, music and the musical interpretation is different from what is now called 'Milonguero', which was recreated in the 1990s when people returned to the Argentine Tango. The origins of the Orillero style stem from knife fighting and can even incorporate tiny jumps/skips in a rhythmic capacity for both the follower and leader plus dramatic change of directions. leo was taught the Orillero style by his father who was a Milonga organiser and dancer in Buenos Aires. Typically danced but not restricted to the music of Orquesta Tipica Victor - listen to tracks like 'El Ponchazo'.

The Canyengue style is a style of Tango based on the 'swagger' or walk of various cultures in Argentina in the 1910s. During that era the Tango of the day was taken and exhibited on the stage and as a result became a 'pastiche' of Tango. However there was also a serious side to the Canyengue. In the 1990s, Leo found his teacher Luis Grondona, who had researched the Canyengue and had rediscovered the beauty of this original style. He taught Leo the Canyengue based on this knowledge. The Canyengue style has a very different embrace and musicality and expression. Typically danced but not restricted to the music of Canaro or Los Tuba Tango.

June 30 - July 2nd 2023 from £238pp
